Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 11 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
A day of sunny spells and isolated showers.

Today:
After another cloudy start, it will be a largely dry day with sunny spells developing more widely into the afternoon; these accompanied by the odd isolated shower, especially further north. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Tonight:
Largely dry with plenty of clear spells this evening. Cloud cover then increasing through the early hours with rain arriving in the southwest of the country. Minimum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Sunday:
Cloud and rain spreading from the southwest across Wales to become widespread throughout the day. This rain may turn heavy at times, especially over higher ground. Maximum temperature 18 deg C (64 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Widespread rain on Monday will likely clear overnight. Becoming drier on Tuesday and Wednesday with plenty of sunny spells and isolated showers, especially during the afternoons.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.